Peppermint, Please

In candy, coffee and cosmetics, peppermint is the scent of the season.

- Peppermint is a perennial herb that grows to a height of about 3 feet. It has green leaves and light purple flowers.
- The plant grows throughout North America, Asia and Europe. The U.S. produces about 70% of the global peppermint crop.
- The herb has been used in cooking and herbal medicine for thousands of years. The Romans believed peppermint could boost intelligence and cure the hiccups.
- Research shows the scent of peppermint helps stimulate brain waves, improve concentration and reduce fatigue.
- Peppermint oil can soothe dry skin and is a common ingredient in lotions and lip balms.
- The fresh herb can be used in a variety of recipes for salads, desserts and beverages.
- Drinking peppermint tea is a popular remedy for relieving headaches and cold/flu symptoms.
- About 1.2 billion candy canes are made every year in the U.S., with 90% of them sold during November and December.
- The peppermint mocha at Starbucks is the coffee chain's No. 1 holiday drink, and is available year-round due to customer demand.
- Dec. 3 is National Peppermint Latte Day. You can mimic the flavor at home by adding milk or cream to black coffee and stirring it with a candy cane.

Welcome Home for Winter

Winter is on the way, and it's time to make your home feel warm, cozy and inviting. Prepare your space for the season by incorporating rich textures, natural elements, touches of greenery and a bit of shine.

Door decorations. All it takes is a wreath or door hanging to make your home look ready for the season. A grapevine wreath embellished with pinecones, fresh greenery, and a few white flowers makes a versatile piece you can display all winter long.

Seasonal centerpiece. Start with a container such as a silver bowl, a wooden tray or a glass jar. Arrange your choice of natural elements, such as pinecones, evergreen clippings, holly berries and birch branches. Add sparkle with a string of miniature white lights.

Cozy covers. Texture helps create warmth, both physically and visually. Drape a faux fur blanket over a chair. Place a sheepskin rug on the floor, or toss one over an ottoman. Store your cozy throws in a large rattan basket; the natural brown tone will add another warm element to the room.

The finishing touch. Tuck in a few wintry items here and there, such as bottlebrush trees, battery-operated tea lights, and figurines of woodland critters. Use plaid fabrics to make your home feel fun and festive. A bowl of cinnamon or pine potpourri is a fragrant addition.

Simmer and Savor

A steamy bowl of homemade soup can warm up a winter evening. With the convenience of a slow cooker, you can let your meal simmer for hours, so it's ready to enjoy when you get home after a busy day.

From baked potato soup and corn chowder to beef stew and chicken tortilla soup, the internet is an endless source of recipes to suit a variety of cuisines and preferences.

If your mornings are hectic, choose a recipe you can prepare the night before. Chop the vegetables, measure and add the liquids, grains and seasonings, then refrigerate. You may need to increase the cooking time for the meal if you go this route, since the ingredients will be chilled.

Most soups and stews need three to four hours on the high setting or six to eight hours on low. Every slow cooker is different, so be prepared to adjust the timing slightly. A smaller slow cooker will heat more quickly, which may result in a reduced cook time. A larger appliance will cook more slowly.

Another advantage of slow cooker soups is that you can often freeze the leftovers. Make a double batch so you have enough to store in the freezer for a future meal. Chili, vegetable soup and stew are good candidates for the freezer. Creamy soups and those with pasta can be frozen, but the texture may be affected.

Have an Eco-Friendly Holiday

Be kind to the Earth this holiday season by taking steps to keep your celebrations eco-friendly.

Go green with greetings. If you are sending out cards or including them with gifts, choose ones made from recycled paper. Recycle or repurpose the cards you receive.

Be a smart shopper. Take along reusable bags when you hit the stores, and travel via public transportation or carpool to reduce pollution and energy consumption. Choose gifts that will stand the test of time. Cheaper, less durable products wear out quickly, creating waste.

Wrap with care. See how creative you can be when it comes to wrapping presents. Use newspaper, magazine pages or maps as wrapping paper. Place gifts in cloth bags that recipients can reuse themselves. Save bows, ribbons, bags and wrapping paper to use next year.

Make mealtime meaningful. Choose organic foods for gatherings. Set the table with cloth napkins and reusable, not disposable, plates and glasses. Share leftovers with family and friends.

Save energy. Turn off decorative lights when you're not home and before going to bed. If lights or other decorations need batteries, choose rechargeable ones. If you will be traveling and away from home for more than a day, turn down your thermostat and put lights on timers.
